Always align the bagua with the wall containing the front door, the main entrance to a room, the mouth of the driveway or the entrance to the property, even if this entrance is never used. For rooms with more than one door, use the door closest to and/or in the most direct line with the front entrance.

Projections can cause missing or enhanced guas, depending upon whether they are missing by over half the width or length of the property.

Anything connected to the main body of the property by roof, foundation or road is considered part of the property within the bagua map.

Always seek to balance the yin and yang to enhance energies to their fullest potential. Always seek to create harmony and balance through creation rather than control. The greatest harmony is achieved from balancing all five elements.
