To Whom It May Concern,

Trisha Keel was brought in to partner with the Mosaic Residences Hermann Park in Houston, Texas as we intended to increase leasing and sales of our units. She immediately grasped our objectives and timeline, and had no problem initiating her services the same day we interviewed her. Completely at ease with the considerable scope of our project, she provided her feng shui expertise in a comprehensive series of steps according to our prioritization requests.

While Trisha is extremely knowledgeable in feng shui and environmental energies at the quantum level, she bases her recommendations on the wisdom that is only developed through years of experience. She is direct, charming, vivacious, and very approachable. Trisha is gifted with an extraordinary talent of vision—she sees both what is missing and what could be. She is thorough, uncommonly resourceful, and has a natural sense of spatial potential for human support. Her phenomenal attention to detail combines with her tremendous creativity to provide multiple solutions to problems we weren't even aware that we had.

A business owner herself, Trisha Keel understands that ROI drives budget allowances. She integrates left brain logic with right brain innovation to offer simple solutions to environmental challenges that promote maximum results efficiently and cost-effectively. Her keenly intuitive and insightful written analyses provided us with detailed and prioritized recommendations to implement which will ultimately raise the value of the land and structure, promote the value of each unit, and even enhance community relations.

I highly recommend Trisha Keel and Tomorrow's Key to any potential client, commercial or residential, seeking to use the benefits of feng shui to enhance their environment.

Sincerely,
